Manager's CommentaryMarket Conditions

As a reference, with the exception of Nigeria which gained 16.3% in 2022, all major African indices recorded losses: South Africa declined 2.8%, Egypt declined 18.9%, Morocco declined 26.6% and Kenya declined 25.3%. Portfolio Highlights

AOF's Full Year net asset value declined 9.8% because gains from Copperbelt Energy, Letshego Holdings, and African Bank perpetual Stub were fully offset by losses from Enterprise Group, First Mutual Properties, Mashonaland Holdings and other securities. Currency depreciations across the African continent had a significant adverse impact on our net asset value in 2022. All major African currencies depreciated against the US Dollar in 2022. The Zimbabwean Dollar, Ghanaian Cedi and Egyptian Pound depreciated 88%, 39% and 37% respectively against the US Dollar. All three currencies operate in a managed regime and the respective underlying economies suffered inflation rates north of 20%. Our investments in Zimbabwe and Ghana accounted for lion-share of our unrealized losses. Elsewhere in the portfolio, the Zambian Kwacha, Kenyan Shilling and Botswana Pula depreciated 8% against the US Dollar.

In 2022, we reduced our investments in Copperbelt Energy, Letshego Holdings, African Leadership and SOGB and fully divested out of African Bank perpetual Stub and SOGB. We also distributed $4.5 million in July, which represented 18% of our 2022 starting net asset value. The sum of all distributions to shareholders since the end of 2019 is $36.5 million, which is equivalent to 77% of the December 2019 closing NAV of $47.7 million.
